

Bright Red line shows route of James L. Acord as he listened to Tape: Mrs. Galore in Absentia. His only working 150 mile radius

tape deck is in his car but it was a great excuse to get out of town.

Data collected in this manner will be provided to Battelle scientists. The data will be entered into a model developed by Battelle for calculating radiation doses. Certain representative individuals who are typical of specific populations for their tribe during the 1944-1947 time period will be identified. For example, these individuals might represent people of their own age group, gender, place of residence, and dietary history. The approximate number of people represented by each "representative individual" will be determined by each tribe.

It is estimated that by late 1993,
