

Dear Janet —

I wrote this longhand the night of the 8th - 9th (or something - I am having trouble with knowing what day it is) and I took it to the library on Monday and tried to type it in and send it. I look at the keyboard and not the monitor when I type. So I had just finished writing this and looked up at the monitor and the ONE MINUTE warning was up and I scrolled up to hit send and the screen went dark.

And worse. I did the same thing today. And I knew it took me 45 minutes to enter your letter and I had ~~reversed~~ reversed last night, and thought I could do it, and didn't. So this is the letter I can't send.

You are one of the four people who have a standing invitation to visit me anytime. If there is not an outside padlock on the door, I am in. Just kick in the door. It is what the ^{Cops} ~~ops~~ do. I am doing good drawings.

all best and much love,

write this first
then alter for Keith Franklin
