Darby House provides a unique environment - secluded and private, yet only minutes away from the heart of the city of Nottingham. Darby House has been tastefully and sensitively restored. The premises are licensed as a Healing and Learning Centre. The Victorian walled garden is a haven of tranquility with rare plants and water features. The house is owned by artist and healer Jed Brignal.

Janice Smelt has had a lifelong interest in natural therapies and in 1993/4 attained a Diploma in Aromatherapy with the London School of Aromatherapy. She is a qualified Bowen therapist and Reiki practitioner, holds a Diploma in Relaxation Therapy, certificates in Remedial Massage, Nutrition and Diet, Stress Management and Indian Head Massage plus Hopi Ear Candle Treatments. Janice is fully insured to practise all therapies offered and is available for consultations each Friday at Darby House.

Dawn Keyse completed her 4 year training course at the Midlands College of Practical Homoeopathy in 1995. She has previously had 17 years of experience as a schoolteacher in the primary sector. She now practises Homoeopathy full time. She uses other therapies to support the healing that takes place during Homoeopathic treatment and these include NLP, Kinesiology and the use of flower essences. Dawn is fully qualified and insured to practise the therapies she offers and is a Licensed Member of the Society of Homoeopaths.
