Dear Janet, Edward, & Push-button,

The weather has become almost spring-like and the days are almost eight hours long now. So I'm getting ready to fly south (always backwards).

I expect I'll see you first week of March. I'm asking Phil to forward e-mails to T-minus (and Tom Putnam & Jinely) in hopes I can stay in touch with the outside world. Hope that's OK.

➤ look forward to a visit with you and promise not to stay too long.

SEALED WITH A KISS

Fur Seal and Pup

Many wild animals are affectionate towards their young. This image of a mother fur seal hugging her ten-day old pup is one of my all time favorites. In Alaska fur seals are found only in the Pribilof Islands where they spend the summer months breeding and raising their young.
