Bubba,

What good news! I received an email from Rita in Islamabad this morning. I had not heard from her in quite a while and confess I was a little worried, what with all the bad news out of Pakistan this past year. Anyway she didn't sound the least concerned.

She got the job she was applying for the last time we communicated. For six months she has been a Director with a thirty million budget and 100 employees. And she implied that she felt over her head. I think she can do it though… I know that girl.

Of course she didn't mention what she was director over. Rereading my last letter to her and today's missive; my feeling is this was a promotion within the Fulbright organization.

Hope we are still on for Sunday noon.
