PS,

Just got off a couple of days of juror summons and feeling pretty spent. I wasn't picked for juror duty in the end, so don't have to go back on Monday. Luck of the draw I guess. However I don't think I feel like getting dressed up again and going to a concert tonight. So I will pass but thanks much for the invite.

The penguins hatched but are out at Don's in Shoreline and I was to late getting out of the courthouse to catch Don after work today. Unless he comes into Seattle for some reason over the weekend I will bus out and catch him after work on Monday.

Maybe we can get together next week some time or the following weekend.

Jim