Dear Brendan Kiley,

Of course I remember you and have read your good article on Greg, who I still haven't visited and met, although we have emailed each other.

I would be happy to get together with you for a visit and a beer or coffee and my time is probably more free then yours so you can pick the time. How about a beer at The Two Bells late some afternoon or early evening?

As to having my radioactive materials license jerked and my ton of German uranium confiscated I am making lemonade. Now that I am free of regulatory scrutiny I am free to push the envelope.

So find a time and drop me a line.
