Dear Brittney,

I'm so sorry I missed seeing you at your mother's Saint Patrick's Day party. I did really want to see you and have a visit. I haven't seen you since I went to London and I want to hear about you going to Denmark.

I stayed long enough to drop off my potluck food and put up a green streamer but your mother was sort of going into bossy mode and I didn't want to stay to long. I did wait around a while hopping to see you, but….

Anyway I hope we can get together the next time you are up Seattle way.

All best,

Jim
