PS,

Hummm… upon giving it some thought I believe I could get good use from your balanced-spectrum desk lamp, if you wanted to trade up. It will require my reorganizing my whole desktop, but I need to do that anyway. It's a mess and over crowded to be sure the way it is.

So if you decided to make another trip down to* Daniel Smith inc.* let me know and I would like to ride along. I am getting to the point I need some more paper. After the first of the month would be best when I have some money.

Good to see you the other day and hear a little about your trip. Making synchronic contact with the two guys while traveling and via phone was something else.
